Designing for the Future with Michelle Desgroseilliers

Date and Time: Wednesday, June 5 4:45 pm - 6:00 pm

Address: 297 College Drive, Haliburton, Ontario, K0M 1S0

Join us in the Great Hall at the Fleming College Haliburton School of Art and Design for a FREE Art Talk! From crystal balls to weather forecasts to artificial intelligence, humans have always sought ways to predict the future—and how we might change it. These uniquely human practices are one of the keys to our success: whether it's solving new problems, remixing past practices or applying emerging technologies. Creative thinkers are always introducing new ideas and practices to the world. This talk will explore the connection that all future forecasting technologies share, examine how businesses and creative thinkers alike apply these methods, and examine emerging technologies and how it can be harnessed. Learn how to apply new tools like generative AI in your own creative processes, and get better at designing for the future.

Bridging the Gap Between Realism and Abstraction with Tracey Lee Green

Address: 297 College Drive, Haliburton, Ontario, K0M 1S0

Join us in the Great Hall at the Fleming College Haliburton School of Art and Design for a FREE Art Talk! Tracey perceives herself as an abstract painter. However, the success of her work as a nature artist is based in realism. In her talk, she'll discuss her journey from painting in the representational realm to abstraction. For her, reali sm became monotonous and started to feel contrived. Painting nature was innate, so she took up the challenge and discovered ways to bridge the veil between what we see and what we feel. In this talk, Tracey will share what worked for her, and ways you can explore and incorporate abstraction into your form of expression.
